

afflictions from hunger and poverty, yet he never wavered in his faith. He was buried by the side of his good wife Ann only six months after her death.

After John's death, Aunt Bella gave up the home and went to live with her daughter, Katie Hicken, where she could live more comfortably. John, knowing the laws of the land did not recognize Aunt Bella as his lawful wife, made ample provisions for her in his will. He also made provisions in his will that each of his children, by both wives, was to share alike in his property. His son Joseph A. was appointed administrator of his estate, and each of the children received about $900.00. There was no dissension or controversy in the settlement, as each felt the property had been fairly and equally divided.

Some may query in their minds as to whether a man could have the same love and affection for a plural wife as his first wife and whether she would have the same love for him. After John's death Aunt Bella was heard to say that if she could have the choice of all the men in the world, she would choose John Murray Murdoch, who had been such a true and faithful husband. Together John, Ann, and Isabella were a noble trio.

Isabella died six years after John on the tenth of April, 1916. All three are laid to rest in the Heber City Cemetery, Wasatch, Utah, until the day of their resurrection. May we all look forward to seeing them again and living forever as a family.

John Murray Murdoch

Ann Steel Murdoch

A term he served in Prison,
 A fine he had to pay--
 A hundred dollars down in cash
 Before he could come away

Now we honor our dear parents
 And the part they had to play,
 Through trials and tribulations
 Until our dying day.

Composed by Catherine Campbell Murdoch Hicken
 August 16, 1921, for the Murdoch reunion.

Isabella Crawford, Ann Steel,
 John Murray Murdoch

Ann Steel, Isabella Crawford,
 John Murray Murdoch

Picture of John Murray Murdoch and Ann Steel Murdoch taken at their 50th Wedding Anniversary Celebration.

This picture of John Murray Murdoch and Isabella Crawford was taken at Ann Steel and John's golden wedding celebration February 24, 1898.

Picture of John Murray Murdoch and Ann Steel Murdoch taken at their 50th Wedding Anniversary Celebration.

This picture of John Murray Murdoch and Isabella Crawford was taken at Ann Steel and John's golden wedding celebration February 24, 1898.

Picture of John Murray Murdoch and Ann Steel Murdoch taken at their 50th Wedding Anniversary Celebration.

This picture of John Murray Murdoch and Isabella Crawford was taken at Ann Steel and John's golden wedding celebration February 24, 1898.

Pioneer Memories

By Mrs. George F. Wells

My grandfather, Patriarch John M. Murdock was born in Gaswater in the year 1820. His youthful days were spent as a shepherd boy, roaming the green heathered hills of old Scotland.

He married Ann Steel and together they embraced the L. D. S. faith. They were converted by the sincere testimony of her young brother James who had heard the strange religion preached in England.

Brigham Young had lashed that two shepherd boys with their Scotch collies be sent to Utah to herd his sheep, Franklin D. Richards, mission president at once contacted grandfather and shortly thereafter with his wife, two children, a companion, and the dogs, set sail on the Kennebec from Liverpool on January 1, 1852. After nine weeks on the ocean they arrived in new Orleans where they chartered a steamboat for the journey up the Mississippi River. A ten day delay on a sand bar decreased their food rations to a dangerously low level. James and Elizabeth, their sweet children, sickening on the oatmeal and blackish water began to waste away. Grandfather asked a young man for some bread, but was curtly refused. A burley stranger, seeing the children were starving, took the boy ashore and fed him, but he died that night. The little girl succumbed a few days later and was thought to have been buried at St. Louis, then an outfitting camp for the western trek.

Grandfather said a stranger stepped up and after expressing sympathy, offered to find a wagon, free of charge to convey the child's coffin to the cemetery, but insisted that he and grandfather walk by way of a short cut so as to be there when the wagon arrived. The grave was dug and dedicated by grandfather, who then kindly thanked the stranger and with a heavy heart started back to camp.

Enroute to camp he noticed a large building and thought he would go inside. As he entered, he saw a large vat of boiling water. To his surprise and horror the head of his little girl, with her yellow curls came to the surface and disappeared. He later learned it was a dissecting establishment. The so-called friend had sold the child's body for medical science. This sorrow he kept to himself for over thirty years.

A month later this weary childless couple, were blessed with a baby girl. When the baby was eight days old, they mother walked and carried the started across the plains. Grandfather the entire distance.

After joining the Abraham O. Smoot Co., grandfather was set apart to nurse and bury the dead, since cholera was taking the lives of many. On one occasion he covered his Scotch plaidy over the bodies of nine in one grave.

After many Indian scares, the journey was terminated when they reached the valley on September 3. Brigham Young, accompanied by Pitts brass band, personally gave the weary travelers a hearty welcome and gave them permission to stay in the Fort until their refuge could be built.

The shepherd boys with their dogs, the first in the valley, were doomed for moiré disappointment. Brigham's sheep that he had purchased from emigrants enroute to Oregon had been nearly all devoured by wolves and coyotes. The remainder had rented to his brother Lorenzo.

John M. and Ann Steele Murdock on Their Golden Wedding Day.

Grandfather was given a job digging by hand, an acre and a half of potatoes, and he felt it was indeed a privilege to be employed by a prophet of God.

He and his good wife saved means to bring his widowed mother, her brother James and his good wife and two sons to Utah. They started with the illfated Martin handcart company, and Wee Granny, as she was called at the age of 74 was pulled her cart to the foot of Chimney Rock, where through sheer exhaustion she laid down and died. Her last words were, "Tell John I died with my face toward Zion." James, a strong young man also succumbed and was buried at Bitter creek.

Undaunted courage led my grandfather and his family on. After eight years in Salt Lake, they loaded all their possessions in a wagon and with their four daughters moved to upper Provo Valley to what is now Heber City.

A large fort three blocks long by two blocks wide, was built and under grandfather's supervision a log hall was erected, to serve as a church, school and for other gatherings.

He built a dugout in which to house his family until logs could be cut. Canals were dug; sage brush grubbed; rocks hauled; and crops planted. Altho the seasons were short and winters severe they pioneered and pros pered as few have ever done.

In 1862 he married as a plural wife a young scotch lassie named Isabel Crawford.

He with his wives and children took up a ranch 10 miles north of Heber and started in the sheep industry. He took a prominent part in every enterprise from the first log cabin to the last public building, and in these efforts he donated both time and means.

The blessing Brigham Young gave him, that he would prosper, have houses, and herds was literally fulfilled. A father of twenty-two children he lived long and well and at the age of ninety he passed away, beloved and honored.

For the past twenty-five years his posterity, numbering several hundred souls, have met in beautiful Provo Canyon, in a three day encampment where with song and pageantry they commemorate his memory. He endured many trials, and knew the pangs of want. He also knew the joys of prosperity, but through it all he never wavered in his faith in God. He sleeps in lovely Wasatch Valley. Beside him lie his two faithful wives, who with him were courageous pioneers.

*a Brief Story
written by
Malvina Wells
Feb. 14 - 1947
Printed in the Deseret Generalissimo*

Pioneer Memories

By Mrs. George F. Wells

My grandfather, Patriarch John M. Murdock was born in Gaswater in the year 1820. His youthful days were spent as a shepherd boy, roaming the green heathered hills of old Scotland.

He married Ann Steel and together they embraced the L. D. S. faith. They were converted by the sincere testimony of her young brother James who had heard the strange religion preached in England.

Brigham Young had asked that two shepherd boys with their Scotch collies be sent to Utah to herd his sheep. Franklin D. Richards, mission president at once contacted grandfather and shortly thereafter with his wife, two children, a companion, and the dogs, set sail on the Kennebec from Liverpool on January 1, 1852. After nine weeks on the ocean they arrived in New Orleans where they chartered a steamboat for the journey up the Mississippi River. A ten day delay on a sand bar decreased their food rations to a dangerously low level. James and Elizabeth, their sweet children, sickening on the oatmeal and blackish water began to waste away. Grandfather asked a young man for some bread, but was curtly refused. A burley stranger, seeing the children were starving, took the boy ashore and fed him, but he died that night. The little girl succumbed a few days later and was thought to have been buried at St. Louis, then an outfitting camp for the western trek. Grandfather said a stranger stepped up and after expressing sympathy, offered to send a wagon, free of charge to convey the child's coffin to the cemetery, but insisted that he and grandfather walk by way of a short cut so as to be there when the wagon arrived. The grave was dug and dedicated by grandfather, who then kindly thanked the stranger and with a heavy heart started back to camp.

Enroute to camp he noticed a large building and thought he would go inside. As he entered, he saw a large vat of boiling water. To his surprise and horror the head of his little girl, with her yellow curls came to the surface and disappeared. He later learned it was a dissecting establishment. The so-called friend had sold the child's body for medical science. This sorrow he kept to himself for over thirty years.

A month later this weary childless couple, were blessed with a baby girl. When the baby was eight days old, they mother walked and carried the started across the plains. Grandfather the entire distance.

After joining the Abraham O. Smoot Co., grandfather was set apart to nurse and bury the dead, since cholera was taking the lives of many. On one occasion he covered his Scotch plidy over the bodies of nine in one grave.

After many Indian scares, the journey was terminated when they reached the valley on September 3. Brigham Young, accompanied by Pitts brass band, personally gave the weary travelers a hearty welcome and gave them permission to stay in the Fort until their refuge could be built.

The shepherd boys with their dogs, the first in the valley, were doomed for more disappointment. Brigham's sheep that he had purchased from emigrants enroute to Oregon had been nearly all devoured by wolves and coyotes. The remainder had rented to his brother Lorenzo.

John M. and Ann Steel Murdock on Their Golden Wedding Day.

Grandfather was given a job digging by hand, an acre and a half of potatoes, and he felt it was indeed a privilege to be employed by a prophet of God.

He and his good wife saved means to bring his widowed mother, her brother James and his good wife and two sons to Utah. They started with the illfated Martin handcart company, and Wee Granny, as she was called at the age of 74 pulled her cart to the foot of Chimney Rock, where through sheer exhaustion she laid down and died. Her last words were, "Tell John I died with my face toward Zion." James, a strong young man also succumbed and was buried at Bitter creek.

Undaunted courage led my grandfather and his family on. After eight years in Salt Lake, they loaded all their possessions in a wagon and with their four daughters moved to upper Provo Valley to what is now Heber City.

A large fort three blocks long by two blocks wide, was build and under grandfather's supervision a log hall was erected, to serve as a church, school and for other gatherings.

He built a dugout in which to house his family until logs could be cut. Canals were dug; sage brush grubbed; rocks hauled; and crops planted. Altho the seasons were short and winters severe they pioneered and pros

*a Brief Story
written by
Malicent Wells
Feb. 14 - 1947
Printed in the Orem Genealogy*

pered as few have ever done.

In 1862 he married as a plural wife a young scotch lassie named Isabel Crawford.

He with his wives and children took up a ranch 10 miles north of Heber and started in the sheep industry. He took a prominent part in every enterprise from the first log cabin to the last public building; and in these efforts he donated both time and means.

The blessing Brigham Young gave him, that he would prosper, have houses, and herds was literally fulfilled. A father of twenty-two children he lived long and well and at the age of ninety he passed away, beloved and honored.

For the past twenty-five years his posterity, numbering several hundred souls, have met in beautiful Provo Canyon, in a three day encampment where with song and pageantry they commemorate his memory.

He endured many trials, and knew the pangs of want. He also knew the joys of prosperity, but through it all he never wandered in his faith in God. He sleeps in lovely Wasatch Valley. Beside him lie his two faithful wives, who with him were courageous pioneers.

DESCENDANTS OF VERONICA MURDOCH CALDOW GILES

1 MURDOCH, James 1786-1831 B-Born
 1 MURDOCH, Mary MURRAY, Sp. 1782-1856 M-Married
 D-Died

2 GILES, Veronica MURDOCH Caldow B-16 Jun 1816 D-4 Oct 1908
 2 CALDOW, George, Sp. B-About 1812 M-15 Feb 1839 D-before 1 Aug 1855
 +2 GILES, Thomas, Sp. (2) B-3 Oct 1804 M-3 July 1879 D-1 Jul 1887

3 BAIRD, Mary CALDOW B-28 Jul 1839 D- ?
 3 BAIRD, Sp. B- M- D-alive 1906*

4 NICHOL, Mrs BAIRD B- M- D-alive 1906*
 4 NICHOL, Sp. B-

5 ?

4 BAIRD, Male B- M- D- (Picture)

4 BAIRD, Male B- M- D- (Picture)

3 CALDOW, George B-17 June 1841 Unmarried 1906 living with brother-in-law Mr. Baird*

3 CALDOW, James B- 7 Jan 1844 M- ? D-alive 1906 living in Mauchline, Scotland*

3 CALDOW, John B-About 1847 M-yes? D-alive 1906 living in Burubank, Scotland a widower with a family*

4

3 CALDOW, Alexander B-About 1849

3 CALDOW, William B-About 1851 D-1 Aug 1855

Last seven children were listed as dead on 19 September 1890 and sealed
 by Veronica to herself and Thomas
 Giles who was also dead at this time.
 Father, George, listed dead on death registration of William 1 Aug 1855?

3 CALDOW, Thomas B-About 1853

3 CALDOW, Joseph B-About 1855

3 CALDOW, David B-About 1857

*David Lennox Murdoch's "Scottish Missionary Journal"

3 CALDOW, Brigham B-About 1859

3 CALDOW, Nephi B-About 1861

+ GILES, Thomas B-3 Oct 1804 D-1 Jul 1887

GILES, Maria KIRKHAM, Sp. (1) B-15 Apr 1807 M-30 May 1832 D-1 Mar 1887

GILES, Thomas Jr. B-21 Jan 1833 D-at sea 1862

GILES, Elizabeth B-25 Dec 1834 D-as a child

GILES, George "M" B- 9 Mar 1840 M-4 Jul 1867 to Mary Elizabeth Mayoh D-7 May 1908

GILES, Elizabeth B-10 Sep 1842 M- to John GILES D-

GILES, William "M" B- 3 Sep 1846 M-5 Jun 1871 to Ann MURDOCH D-30 Apr 1926

(One history says oldest sister stayed in England)

to them en route, at what is now Kansas City, Mo., which at that time was the outfitting place for the emigrants crossing the plains to Utah. In 1862 (Aug. 8th) Elder Murdoch married Isabella Crawford, by whom he is the father of seven children. In civil affairs, and in public life generally, Brother Murdoch has always taken a most active part, and has filled many offices of responsibility and trust; thus he served as treasurer of Wasatch county and was county surveyor one term. He has presided over the High Priests quorum in the Wasatch Stake since 1877. Prior to that time (Jan., 1861 to 1877) he presided over the High Priests in a moral capacity. He was ordained a Patriarch May 14, 1899, by Apostle Francis M. Lyman.

John
Murdoch

MURDOCK, John Murray, a Patriarch and president of the High Priests quorum of the Wasatch Stake of Zion, Utah, was born Dec. 28, 1821, at Auchinleck, Ayrshire, Scotland, the son of James Murdoch and Mary Murray. He was baptized Nov. 29, 1850, by Thomas Hittly; ordained a Priest in 1851, by Andrew Ferguson; emigrated to Utah in 1852, and resided in Salt Lake City until the time of the "Move" in 1858, when he settled temporarily in Goshen, Utah county, but located permanently in Heber City, Wasatch county, in 1860, where he still resides. He was ordained a High Priest by Bishop Edward Hunter, in Salt Lake City, in 1868, and set apart as first counselor to Bishop Jacob Weiher, of the Third Ward. In other respects he has always been a diligent Church worker and has filled many offices both of an ecclesiastical and civil nature. He participated in the Johnston army campaign in 1857-58, served in the Walker and Black Hawk Indian wars and shared in the privations incident to pioneer life in the early days in Utah. He married his first wife (Ann Steel) Feb. 25, 1848, at Kilmannel, Dumfriesshire, Scotland; she bore him fifteen children. At the time of his emigration to Utah, he was accompanied by his wife and two children. A third child, a daughter (Mary), was born LDS Reg. Ence 2:12-13

John Murray Murdoch
Home by the Heber City, Utah depot
Ann Steel lived here. It was built after they were required by law to have separated households. About 1891.